

True Science
Kimbo Tippett

True science is never settled. When it is...
It becomes the "holy religion" of Scientism.

True science... help us discover the truth.
True science... give us all tools to use.
True science... good for everyone.
True science... shining like the sun.

But, too many scientists have sold us all out.
Too many scientists... they take the secret vow.
The love of money decides what is revealed.
To get the money grant, the truth is locked and sealed.
Science used to torture. They use it for control.
By selling off their minds, they're selling off their souls.
Anything for money. Anything for power.
The ones that could have helped us just
Cower in the crucial hour.

We can't ever trust you again.
You have shown yourself to be less than a friend.
We can't ever trust you again. No way.
We just won't pretend.

True science... helps us all to heal.
True science... helps us see what's real.
True science... lets us all be brave.
True science... the goodness that it gave.

I never would have thought
a man of science could be bought
Pleasure not truth is being sought.
Given awards while betraying all humanity.
Intellect in the service of evil
is the definition of insanity.

We never gonna trust you again.
No way. Hear what I say.
We never gonna trust you again.
You have shown yourself to be a weapon, not a friend.
Never, never, never, never gonna trust you again.
Your word means less than nothing.
You're not our friend.
You're not our friend.

Technocratic nano-tubes. Spraying us like bugs.
We say; "Leave us alone!", but they push and they tug.
They dumbed us down so much that all we do is shrug.
Anything for glory. Anything for cash.
All your spying cameras should end up in the trash.
Linked up with the enemy. Betray family and friends.

We'll never trust you again.
