

Nightmare Planet

Kimbo Tippett

There is a planet far from here. A planet ruled by fear.
At least, that's what we hear.
Everybody here is so sincere.

This must be some fiction fairy tale.
They say, "Children are for sale". Completely off the rails.
It seems as though they've barely lost their tails.
If we want to "know" we must set sail.

Let's go! Time to start up the thinking machine.

We have the technology to go. We really need to know...
Is this really so?
We'll be there in an instant. We're not slow.

A shiny ball of white and blue and green. Pretty and pristine.
It seems so serene.
They tell us they're misguided and they're mean.

Keeping a safe distance we observe. What we see makes us unnerved.
We'd really love to serve.
They rejected The Creator of this universe.
What they did to Him they'll do to us and worse.

Yes, I guess we found out for ourselves. There really is a hell.
Though, not what scriptures tell.
We've seen the very bottom of the well.
The love of "self" is why this planet fell.
Defiance of the right and legal over Law.
They really want to take the place of God.
This is proof that they are dumber than a dirt clod.
They make their own law they try to ignore the laws of God.
They really think that they can ignore the laws of God.

